THE BATTLE PRAYER.

Words by WALTER MAURICE.

Music by HIMMEL.

Fa - ther! I bend to thee, Life, it was thy gift,
p
Thou now can'st shield it, From thee it came, and to thee I yield it, In life or death for - sake not me.
pp
Fa - ther I bend to thee.
p

Fa - ther! I trust in thee, When mid'st the Battle's strife, trem:
Death did sur - round me, E'en at the can - non's mouth,
Death has not found me. Father 'twas thy will! I trust in thee.
pp
Fa-ther still guide thou me.

All I give back to thee! When at thy call, I my Life then shall yield, When in the cold tomb, my fate shall be seal'd, Fa - ther my soul take un - to thee!
Fa-ther for-sake not me.

2.

At the first sweet dawn of light,
When I gaze upon the deep,
Her form still greets my sight,
While the stars their vigils keep:
When I close mine aching eyes,
Sweet dreams my senses fill;
And from sleep when I arise,
Her bright smile haunts me still.
When I close mine aching eyes,
Sweet dreams my senses fill;
And from sleep when I arise,
Her bright smile haunts me still.

3.

I have sail'd 'neath alien skies,
I have trod the desert path,
I have seen the storm arise,
Like a giant in his wrath;
Ev'ry danger I have known,
That a reckless life can fill;
Yet her presence is not flown,
Her bright smile haunts me still.
Ev'ry danger I have known,
That a reckless life can fill;
Yet her presence is not flown,
Her bright smile haunts me still.

Now! now! the dreadful storm is rolling,
Which treacherous kings confederate raise;
The fiends of war let loose are howling,
And lo! your fields and cities blaze;
And will ye tamely view the ruin,
While lawless foes with guilty pride
Spread desolation far and wide
With crimes and blood their hands embruing.
March on, &c.

With luxury and pride surrounded,
The vile insensate despots dare
(From lust of power and gold unbounded)
To mete and vend the light and air:
Like beasts of burden they would lead us,
Like Gods would bid their slaves adore;
But man is man, and who is more?
They shall no longer lash and goad us.
March on, &c.

Que veut cette horde d'esclaves,
De traîtres, de rois conjurés!
Pour qui ces ignobles entraves,
Ces fers, dès longtemps préparés!
Français, pour nous, ah! quel outrage!
Quels transports il doit exciter!
C'est nous qu'on ose menacer
De rendre à l'antique esclavage!
Aux armes, &c.

Tremblez, tyrans; et vous, perfides,
L'opprobre de tous les partis;
Tremblez, vos projets parricides
Vont enfin recevoir leur prix.
Tout est soldat pour vous combattre:
S'ils tombent nos jeunes héros,
La France en produit de nouveaux
Contre vous tous prêts à se battre.
Aux armes, &c.

Quoi! des cohortes étrangères
Feraient la loi dans nos foyers!
Quoi! ces phalanges mercenaires
Terrasseraient nos fiers guerriers!
Grand Dieu! par des mains enchaînées
Nos fronts sous le joug se ploieraient!
De vils despotes deviendraient
Les maîtres de nos destinées!
Aux armes, &c.

Français, en guerriers magnanimes,
Portez ou retenez vos coups;
Epargnez ces triste victimes
A regret s'armant contre vous;
Mais ces despôtes sanguinaires,
Mais les complices de Bouillé...
Tous ces tigres qui, sans pitié,
Déchirent le sein de leur mère...
Aux armes, &c.

Amour sacré de la patrie,
Conduis, soutiens nos bras vengeurs:
Liberté, Liberté chérie,
Combats avec tes défenseurs:
Sous nos drapeaux que la victoire
Accoure à tes mâles accens
Que tes ennemis expirans
Voyent ... et notre gloire.

When the summer breeze is sighing
Mournfully along;
Or when autumn leaves are falling,
Sadly breathes the song.
Oft in dreams I see thee lying
On the battle plain,
Lonely, wounded, even dying,
Calling, but in vain.

Chorus.—Weeping, sad, &c.

3.

If amid the din of battle
Nobly you should fall,
Far away from those who love you,
None to hear you call—
Who would whisper words of comfort,
Who would soothe your pain?
Ah! the many cruel fancies
Ever in my brain.

Chorus.—Weeping, sad, &c.

4.

But our country called you, darling,
Angels cheer your way;
While our nation's sons are fighting,
We can only pray.
Nobly strike for God and liberty,
Let all nations see
How we love the starry banner,
Emblem of the free.

Chorus.—Weeping, sad, &c.

Call me not back from the Echoless Shore. In reply to "Rock me to sleep, Mother." Words by CHARLES CARROLL SAWYER. Music by HENRY TUCKER. This song is acknowledged by all to be the best reply to "Rock me to sleep, Mother" that has been published. Be sure and ask for Sawyer and Thompson's,..... 25

Who will care for Mother now? CARD.—During one of our late battles, among many other noble fellows that fell was a young man who had been the only support of an aged and sick mother for years. Hearing the surgeon tell those who were near him that he could not live, he placed his hand across his forehead, and with a trembling voice said, while burning tears ran down his fevered cheeks: "Who will care for mother now?"

"Soon with angels I'll be marching,
With bright laurels on my brow;
I have for my country fallen—
Who will care for mother now?"

The words and music of this beautiful song were composed by CHARLES CARROLL SAWYER,... 25

My Emma Louise. Composed by CHARLES CARROLL SAWYER. This is, without doubt, one of the best songs yet published. It is cheerful yet pathetic, and so arranged that all who have the least idea of music can easily sing it. The words are very pleasing, being playful yet filled with sentiment,..... 25

"You may talk of your beauties, with eyes so bewitching,
Of forms that are faultless, and cheeks like the rose;
You may speak of sly glances, that keeps one's heart twitching—
It is all very well just as far as it goes.
You may tell me of voices that sound like the ringing
Of silvery bells, just as much as you please,
But yet, I am sure none could be half so winning
As my little darling—my Emma Louise!"

MUSIC FOR PARTIES.

This ballad was suggested by the following incident. On the battle-field of Gettysburg, among many of our wounded soldiers was a young man the only son of an aged mother. Hearing the surgeon tell his companions that he could not survive the ensuing night, he placed his hand upon his forehead, talking continually of his mother and sister, and said to his comrades assembled around him, "Break it gently to my mother."

Break it gently to my Mother.

In the old church yard near, by the brooks quiet rill,
Nought is heard but the cry of the lone whippoorwill;
And violets blossom in spring near that brook,
Beneath the old yew tree that shelters the nook,
Where sleeps gentle Flora whose prayer while she smil'd,
Was "here dearest mother, lay Flora your child."

PIANO-FORTE.

Will you come with me my Phil_lis, dear, to yon blue mountain free, Where the blossoms smell the sweet_est, come rove a_long with me. It's ev'_ry Sun_day morn_ing when I am by your side, We'll jump in_to the Wa_gon, and all take a ride. Wait for the Wa_gon, Wait for the Wagon, Wait for the Wa_gon and we'll all take a ride.

CHORUS.

Where the river runs like silver, and the birds they sing so sweet,
I have a cabin, Phillis, and something good to eat;
Come listen to my story, It will relieve my heart,
So jump into the Wagon, and off we will start.
Wait for the Wagon &c.

Do you believe my Phillis, dear, old Mike with all his wealth,
Can make you half so happy, as I with youth and health?
We'll have a little farm, a horse, a pig and cow;
And you will mind the dairy, while I do guide the plough.
Wait for the Wagon &c.

Your lips are red as poppies, your hair so slick and neat,
All braided up with dahlias, and hollyhocks so sweet.
It's ev'ry Sunday morning, when I am by your side,
We'll jump into the Wagon, and all take a ride.
Wait for the Wagon &c.

Together on life's journey, we'll travel till we stop,
And if we have no trouble, we'll reach the happy top,
Then come with me sweet Phillis, my dear, my lovely bride,
We'll jump into the Wagon, and all take a ride.
Wait for the Wagon &c.

But ah! how swift those happy hours,

Like summer's gay, but short-lived flowers,

For on a winter's hapless day,
Death's shadow passed between
Our love, and from me snatched away
My darling Geraldine.

O! lovely Geraldine.

He trod the steamer's deck dejected,
And nought he thought could cheer him,
Still he was not by all neglected —
A sweet child gambol'd near him,
And gazing on his face with sorrow,
She kindly said — "why sigh you,
Don't weep, and then perhaps tomorrow
My father, dear will buy you."
Poor Uncle Tom, — the voice,
Of that young child
Made his lone heart rejoice —
He sigh'd and smild.

Hark, what a cry to heavn ascends,
Eva, the planters little daughter,
Whose life on some swift aid depends,
Now struggles in the water;
A bound — a splah — and old Tom leaping,
Ahead of ev'ry other,
Rescues the child, and brings her weeping
To her distracted mother.
Poor Tom is now at rest,
In the dark grave,
And those who knew him best,
Morn for the slave.

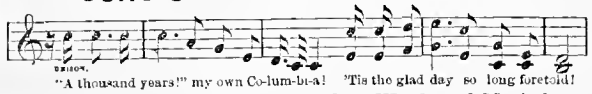
"SONG OF A THOUSAND YEARS."



Solo and Chorus—Illustrated Title. Words and Music by HENRY C. WORK.

In a noble style, depicting the future of our nation in a way that strengthens our hopes, and fills us with new resolves. The Solo is adapted to voices of medium range, and the Chorus to mixed or men's voices, as may be convenient.

Price—25 cents.

Lift up your eyes, desponding freemen!
Fling to the winds you needless fears!
He who unfurl'd your beauteous banner,
Says it shall wave a thousand years!

Chorus—"A thousand years!" my own Columbia!
'Tis the glad day so long foretold!
'Tis the glad morn whose early twilight
Washington saw in times of old.

What if the clouds, one little moment,
Hide the blue sky where morn appears,
When the bright sun, that tints them crimson,
Rises to shine a thousand years? Chorus.

Tell the great world these blessed tidings!
Yes, and be sure the bondman hears;
Tell the oppressed of every nation
Jubilee lasts a thousand years. Chorus.

Envious foes, beyond the ocean!
Little we heed your threat'ning sneers;
Little will they—our children's children—
When you are gone a thousand years. Chorus.

Rebels at home! go hide your faces—
Weep for your crimes with bitter tears;
You could not bind the blessed daylight,
Though you should strive a thousand years. Chorus.

Back to your dens, ye secret traitors!
Down to your own degraded spheres!
Ere the first blaze of dazzling sunshine
Shortens your lives a thousand years. Chorus.

Haste thee along, thou glorious Noonday!
Oh, for the eyes of ancient seers!
Oh, for the faith of Him who reckons
Each of his days a thousand years. Chorus.

"MINE IS THE MOURNING HEART."

Duett for Soprano and Tenor—by

STEPHEN C. FOSTER.

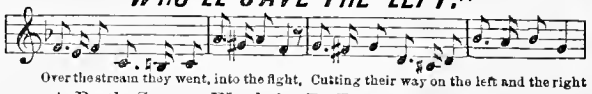
A charming composition of this remarkable melodist. It seems the best of his that we have seen for a long time.

Price—25 cents.

Thou hast roam'd under summer skies,
Whilst I have weather'd the storm—
I have pray'd that the angels fair
Would shield thy pillow from harm.
But thou wert gone! and none this soul
From sadness could awaken—
Mine is the mourning heart,
By thee forsaken!

Thou hast whisper'd, in words of love,
To other ears than mine—
I have yielded to others' charms,
But worshipped only thine.
But ah! dost thou remember, love,
Those sacred vows we've taken?
Mine is the mourning heart, &c.

"WHO'LL SAVE THE LEFT."



A Battle Scene—Words by R. TOMPKINS—Music by

GEO. F. ROOT.

"To perpetuate the glory of the brave men of the Nineteenth Illinois, and their companions in arms, who fell at Murfreesboro'." This is a vivid description of the brilliant charge of the 19th, in response to Gen. Negley's call of "Who'll save the left?" in that memorable fight. Singers who have energetic voices and good descriptive and declamatory power, will produce great effect with this song. Price—50 cents.

Through two long days the battle raged
In front of Murfreesboro',
And cannon balls tore up the earth
As plow turns up the furrow—
Brave soldiers by the hundred fell
In fierce assault and sally,
While bursting shell hiss'd, screamed and fell,
Like demons in the valley.
The Northman and the Southron met,
In bold, defiant manner—
Now victory perched on Union flag,
And now on rebel banner.
But see! upon the Union's left,
Bear down in countless numbers,
With shouts that seem to wake the hills
From their eternal slumbers;
The rebel hosts, whose iron rain
Beats down our weaker forces,
And covers all the battle plain
With torn and mangled corses—
Still onward press the rebel hordes
More boldly, fiercer, faster,
But Negley's practiced eye discerns
The swift and dread disaster.
"WHO'LL SAVE THE LEFT?" his voice rang out
Above the roar of battle,
"The Nineteenth!" shouted Colonel Scott,
Amid the musket's rattle;
"The Nineteenth be it—Make the charge!"
Quick as the word was given,
The Nineteenth fell upon the foe
As lightning falls from heaven.

Over the stream they went, into the fight,
Cutting their way on the left and the right,
Unheeding the storm of the shot and the shell,
Unheeding the fate of their comrades who fell—
Onward they sped like the fierce lightning's flash—
Onward they sped with a tornado's crash—
Onward they sped like the bolts of the thunder, Resistlessly crushing the rebel hosts under;
Till wild in their terror they scattered and fled,
Leaving heaps upon heaps of their dying and dead—
And the shout that went up, with the set of the sun,
Told the charge was triumphant, the great battle won.

SELECT LIST OF NEW AND POPULAR VOCAL MUSIC,

Published by HENRY TOLMAN & CO., 291 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

Weeping Sad and Lonely; or, When this Cruel War is Over. H. Tucker. 25

Since the days of "Old Folks at Home," no Song has been issued in this Country which has attained such an immense popularity as this; it bids fair to be the most popular song ever issued in America.

When this War is Over, I will Come back to Thee, Song and Chorus. Mayer. 25

Decidedly the best reply to the most popular song of the day, "When this Cruel War is Over;" over twenty editions having been printed.

He's Watching o'er thy Mother, Song and Chorus. Mayer. 25

A beautiful and touching ballad written in reply to the popular song, "Who will care for Mother now?"

Rock me to Sleep, Mother, Song and Chorus. Mayer. 25

A pathetic appeal from a daughter to her mother, who has passed from the cold world to the happy home beyond. The sentiment is very beautiful, and the melody is exquisite. It has attained a sale of several thousands.

Angels, my Darling, will Rock thee to Sleep, Song and Chorus. Mayer. 30

Written in reply to the popular ballad "Rock me to Sleep, Mother." It is the best and most appropriate reply that has yet appeared, and is certainly the most successful; over thirty thousand copies having been sold.

Is that Mother Bending o'er me? Song and Chorus. Mayer. 30

Seldom do we find a popular song of so refined a character as this; the sentiment is positively beautiful, the melody is easy and graceful, and the chorus is very effective. The ballad was founded on the following incident.

"Among the many brave and uncomplaining soldiers who were brought up from the battle of Fredericksburg, was a bright eyed, intelligent young man, or boy, rather, of sixteen years, who belonged to a northern regiment. He appeared more affectionate and tender than his comrades, and attracted a good deal of attention from the attendants and visitors. Manifestly the pet of some household, he longed for nothing so much as the arrival of his mother, who was expected, for he knew he was mortally wounded, and failing fast. Ere she arrived, however, he died. But he thought she had come, for while a kind lady visitor was wiping the death sweat from his brow, as his sight was failing, he rallied a little, like an expiring taper in its socket, looked up longingly, and joyfully, and in the tenderest pathos, whispered quite audibly, "Is that Mother?" in tones that drew tears from every eye. Then drawing her towards him with all his feeble power, he nestled his head in her arms like a sleeping infant, and thus died with the sweet word of "Mother" on his quivering lips."

Break it Gently to my Mother, Song and Chorus. Buckley. 30

This ballad was suggested by the following incident.—On the battle-field of Gettysburg, among many of our wounded soldiers, was a young man, the only son of an aged mother. Hearing the surgeon tell his companions that he could not survive the ensuing night, he placed his hand upon his forehead, talked continually of his mother and sister, and his last words to his comrades assembled around him were, "Break it gently to my Mother." This beautiful song is nightly encored at the concerts of Buckley's Serenaders in this city.

It is one of those deeply touching strains, which brings tears to the eyes and touches the strongest hearts. It is quite effective, not difficult, and comes within the compass of ordinary voices.

The Stars and Stripes of Old, Song and Chorus. Mayer. 25

A soul-stirring patriotic song; the music is an adaptation of the "Bonnie Blue Flag."

Ode to the Brave, Quartette. Mayer. 25

Very appropriate for Military Funerals.

'T is Growing very Dark, Mother, Song and Chorus. Buckley. 30

A ballad suggested by the dying words of one of our noble young volunteers; the sentiment, which is sweet and beautiful, appeals directly to the sympathies of those who have lost a friend or a relative, in defending the rights of their country.

Tell me, is my Father coming Home? Song and Chorus. Buckley. 30

This charming ballad is founded on a touching incident connected with the war. It is one of the most successful songs of the season, several editions having been printed in a short space of time.

Kiss me Mother ere I Die, Song and Chorus. Buckley. 30

The dying words of a youthful soldier are touchingly portrayed both by words and music.

The War is nearly Over, Song and Chorus. Buckley. 25

Companion to "When this Cruel War is over." The words are of a cheerful character, the melody is easy and flowing.

When Johnny Comes Marching Home, Song and Chorus. Lambert. 30

A song for home, the camp, and the concert room. It is sung and performed with unbounded success nightly, at the entertainments of all the Minstrel Troupes, Old Folks Troupes, and the Hutchinson Family, Gilmore's Band, &c.

Read me a Letter from Home, Song and Chorus. Barton. 30

An easy and pleasing song, the words of an invalid soldier, who requests his attendant to read him tidings from the loved ones at home.

Can I go, Dearest Mother? Ballad. Covert. 30

This is, unquestionably, the best production of its favorite author. The sentiment cannot fail to suit those who admire the patriotism of our noble youth who have risked their lives in defence of our common country.

"I have written to you, mother with a consciousness of right
I am thinking of you fondly, with a loyal heart to-night:
When I have your noble bidding, which shall tell me to press on,
I will come and kiss you mother, come and kiss you, and be gone.
In the sacred name of Freedom, and my country as her due,
In the name of Law and Justice, I have written this to you.
I am eager, anxious, longing to resist my country's foe;
Shall I go, my dearest mother? tell me, mother, Shall I go?"

Mother is the Battle over? Ballad. Roefs. 25

An affecting ballad suitable for tenor or soprano.

O, Kiss me ere I Sleep, Sister, Song and Chorus. Ballard. 30

This most beautiful and affecting song, was founded on the following incident.

On a train, recently, which left Chicago, on the Pittsburg R. R., was a young lady from Albany, N. Y., the only sister of a pale and emaciated invalid, who lay on a couch in the sleeping car. About four years since, he left his home for Kanzas, and toiled there till he fell sick with the consumption. He sent at last for his sister, (his only living relative,) a girl of about twenty years. She visited him; soon he determined to return home. They started, but it was too much for his wasted energies, and at Chicago he was carried into the car, as if he were an unconscious infant. As he lay there, pale and coughing, it was beautiful to see with what sisterly devotion she watched beside him; she gently smoothed back his damp hair, and softly kissed him as she bent over him. About one o'clock, he asked her the hour. She told him. A few moments later, he reached out his skeleton hand to place within her own, and whispered, "Kiss me sister, before I sleep;" and closed his eyes. Soon his head fell gently on one side, as if sleeping; but he slept the "sleep, from which none ever wakes to weep."

I am Dreaming, Fondly Dreaming. Buckley. 30

In Dreams thou 'rt Ever Near. " 30

Two excellent ballads by this favorite song writer.

Where I met my Norah Dear, Song and Chorus. Thompson. 30

Mr. Thompson's ballads, "Lilly Dale," "Annie Lisle," &c., have become "household words." The above song, his latest effort, bids fair to rival its predecessors.

Laura Haunts my Fancy Still. Gilmore. 30

The most successful song of the author since his "Good news from Home." Several editions have been sold.

Just Twenty Years Ago, Song and Chorus. Lambert. 30

Sung by the popular balladist, Wm. Hayward. One of the best melodies adapted for parlor or concert use.

I Watched the Sunlight Dying. 30

Time's Changes. 30

O! Rosy Morn. 30

Like a Well-Spring in the Desert. 30

The Dear old Songs of Home. 30

Birds that in yon Pine Tree Sing. 30

Six ballads, by Franz Abt, author of "When the Swallows."

Sweet Dreams are Flitting Softly o'er me. Lamonte. 25

An effective song with chorus ad lib. suitable for tenor or soprano voice. A graceful melody, one of those easily remembered when once heard.

"When Johnny Comes Marching Home"

By Frank C. Damon
(Concluded)

Oct 31 1936

Charles B. Gilmore gave me valuable information on the question at issue, which may be summed up about like this, not attempting to quote his letters literally:

When Charles was a young man he often saw his father looking over a folder or binder which contained a score or more of Gilmore's musical compositions. He noted that many of them were inscribed on the title page: "Words and Music by Pierce Sarsfield." He said Gilmore gave his father a copy of his song, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home Again," remarking that he was the "Pierce Sarsfield" named on the title page as the author. Later his father told him Gilmore had first published the song under the nom de plume of "Louis Lambert."

Numerous newspaper items of Civil War times speak of Gilmore's interpretation of his own "Johnny" song during concerts given by his band. He made no attempt to hide behind either "Louis Lambert" or "Pierce Sarsfield" once the song was well established in popular favor. The old Salem editors knew the true story well and nowhere did we find that they ever wrote a story in which doubt was cast upon the Gilmore authorship. We should have noticed such an item, for the question at issue was the authorship of another song.

Charles said he was told by his father that if he ever ran across any of Gilmore's earlier compositions he would find many of them ascribed to "Pierce Sarsfield." Charles never made a search and could not vouch for the truth of this statement. He did affirm, however, that his father often told him Gilmore's baptismal name was "Pierce Stephen." The approximation of the non de plume, "Pierce Sarsfield," to the name Gilmore bore in the later years of his life, "Patrick Sarsfield," is an important link in our chain of evidence.

As the authorship of this well-known old war song was not in question when my assistants went through the files of the Salem weekly papers and the Gilmore music library at the Essex Institute in Salem, I cannot give you the exact words to be found in any news item, or on the title page of any Gilmore composition to prove that Patrick Sarsfield and Pierce Sarsfield were one and the same person. We were then looking for similar evidence in connection with the disputed authorship of the older song, "When I Saw Sweet Nellie Home." We found what we were after, both in the newspaper files and on the title page of one piece of Gilmore's sheet music. This composition was "By P. S. Gilmore, Author of When I Saw Sweet Nellie Home."

I was assisted in this particular search by two Lowell newspaper men, Frederick W. Coburn and Frank M. Brogan. The detailed story of the search was told in the Salem Evening News and Lowell Courier-Citizen in the fall and winter of 1930. Gilmore's wife, born Ellen J. O'Neill, was the Nellie of this song. The courtship was in Lowell. If the aged Lowell citizens who rallied to the defence of this old song had known at the time that his title to the famous Civil War song was questioned, they would have had even more severe brainstorms than they did during the time the "Nellie" controversy was being given publicity.

"When Johnny Comes Marching Home"

Oct 24, 1936

By Frank C. Damon

Elsewhere I have told the long story of the disputed authorship of the old song, "When I Saw Sweet Nellie Home," or, as it is better known, "The Quilting Party." The purpose of this article is to set at rest any doubts that may remain as to Patrick Sarsfield Gilmore's right to go down in musical history as the author of the popular Civil War song, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

To properly understand the case we should know something about Gilmore's birth, christening and his home, where his real name would be most naturally used. As to his nativity I accept as most trustworthy the statement made by him when he joined Essex Lodge of Masons in Salem in 1856:

"No. 581, Patrick S. Gilmore, son of Patrick and Mary (Sharkey) Gilmore; b. Murthingar, County of Mayo, Ireland, 26 Dec. 1829."

Attempts to confirm these facts by mail were abortive. No attention was paid to my letters, even though I attached a five-cent stamp for return postage. Gilmore's niece, Mrs. Nell M. Parmele of Evanston, Ill., lived with the widow and daughter of the bandmaster for over a year in Boston, Nantasket Beach, New York and other places. She told me she never heard the name "Sarsfield" in connection with her uncle until I sent her the first draft of the genealogical chapter of my book. She understood his name to be "Pierce Stephen," which his widow and her own mother always shortened to "Stephen" when speaking to him, or of him to others.

A nephew, Charles Bernard Gilmore of San Francisco, Calif., only recently deceased, wrote me to the following effect: His father, John Hugh Gilmore, the bandmaster's brother, often told him the story of how the name "Patrick" was saddled upon the unwilling brother by John Hugh. Charles, then a young man in his teens, was a witness at a story interview between the brother when the Gilmore band visited San Francisco in 1876:

"How are ye, 'Paddy'?" was the older brother's greeting.

Gilmore resented this in words, looks and actions, and but for the interference of mutual friends blows might have been exchanged. On the way home from the hotel where the band made its headquarters, Charles said his father told him the whole story, winding up with:

"I gave him the name 'Paddy,' and 'Paddy' he will remain to the end of his days." A perusal of the newspapers of the period of Gilmore's activity will confirm this statement. Nowhere is he called anything else. That he was not proud of his new name is best shown by the fact that he never used it. He always signed himself as "P. S." His monumental work on "The National Peace Jubilee" was by P. S. Gilmore."

Patrick Sarsfield, as all students of early Irish history know, was a great general in Cromwellian times. Having unwillingly taken this celebrated man's first name, probably Gilmore assumed General Sarsfield's family name as his own middle name.

ANSWERS

5534. On P. S. Gilmore's alleged authorship of "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," the query was simple and direct but nothing to the point and certain was given in the answer. Since latter was net result of six years research, and since P. S. Gilmore loomed so large in New England history 1858-1872, it should be recorded that some of us are convinced still that the American Mercury article of October, 1933, "Bandmaster Gilmore" is right: "It will probably never be known whether the pseudonym of Louis Lambert belonged to him or to another." Before we parted she'd all my affection,
I enquired, "Should I see her at some future day?"
She simpered, and smiled, and said, "She'd no objection"
As light as a fairy she tripped it away.
So we were engaged in a regular way,
My time passed as happy as the flowers in May.
When I thought of Isabella, and her gingham umbrella
And her father's little barber shop in East Boston.

5.

I took her to the Buckley's, with a ticket of admission,
I took her to the Copelands, for ice-creams not a few,
We went to Music Hall organ Exhibition,
And out to the Cattle-Fair, at Brighton, too.
Oh! the presents I made, and the letters I wrote
From the first time I met her on the East Boston boat,
My darling Isabella, and her gingham umbrella,
Whose father keeps a barber's shop in East Boston.

6.

When you hear the sequel you'll say it has no equal
In all the annals of woman's deceit;
I went one night to meet my Isabel,
But no Isabel was there to meet,
I searched the South End till I happened to drop
In at Union Hall at a "five dollar hop"
And there found Isabella, with a lemon-whiskered feller
Dancing "double-shuffles" like all East Boston!

7.

I started with surprise, then exclaimed "Isabella!"
"Do you take me for a flat? Do I look like a fool?"
She coolly replied, "Yes, I rather think I do,"
"But don't geteexited, you had best keep cool,"
I rushed at my rival, satisfaction to get,
But found that my troubles had not ended yet,
For up jumped Isabella, with her gingham umbrella,
And knocked my bran new "stove-pipe" to East Boston.

8.

I rushed from the sight of the faithless spinster
In the Charles River water repose to find
But before I reached the foot of the Common
My opinions altered, and I changed my mind.
Our folly must be paid for and wisdom bought;
There are fishes in the sea, good as ever were caught.
So "good-bye" to Isabella, and her broken umbrella,
And her father's one-horse barber's shop in East Boston.

They say we have no officers,
But ah! they are mistaken;
And soon you'll see the rebels run
With all the fuss they're makin'
For there is one who just sprung up,
He'll show the foe no quarter,
(Mc Clellan is the man I mean)
You know he had'nt ought-er,
For he's gone down to Washington
To fight for Abraham's daughter.

We'll have a spree with Johnny Bull,
Perhaps, some day or other,
And wont he have his fingers full,
If not a deal of bother;
For Yankee boys are just the lads
Upon the land or water,
And wont we have a "bully" fight
And dont you think we ought er,
If he is caught at any time
Insulting Abraham's daughter.

But let us lay all jokes aside,
It is a sorry question,
The man who would these States divide,
Should hang for his suggestion.
One Country and one Flag, I say-
Who e'er the war may slaughter;
So I'm goin' as a Fire Zou-a
And dont you think I ought er
Im going down to Washington
To fight for Abrahams daughter.

TO MINONA

A CERTAIN SERENADE

MUSIC BY

SPOHR

Far from love, o'er plain and river,
Late I rushed in headlong flight;
Ah! he followed ever, ever,
Vain is speed against his might.
Here I yield, O! one good night.

Leave me not in darkness pining,
From thy curtaind windows height,
Let one look of pity shining,
Warm my heart to new delight.
Let me hear one sweet good night.

THE WANDERER

(DER WAND'RER)

A. FESKA.

Agitato e con dolcezza.

Mid dazzling snows o'er dizzy height,
In pathless fores' dark with shades of night,
Leaping the torrent, forcing the stream,
In tranquil moonlight with day's earliest beam,
Still thy form so fair &c.

Tho' we be parted as pole from pole,
When o'er my head the threat'ning thunders roll,
When cast adrift upon some barren strand,
When fain I tread the deserts burning sand,
Still thy form so fair &c.

Durch der Wolken führt mich mein Weg
Über der Ströme schwindelnden Steg,
Hoch auf der Gletscher eisigem Feld
Schau' ich tief unten sonnig die Welt!
Hier auch umschwebt mich wonnig und mild &c.

Tief in des Thales schaurig Schlucht,
Wie zu der See hoch'm, ew'ger Wucht,
Hin durch der Wüste glühende
Hatt' ich die leichten Schritte gewandt;
Doch wo ich weilte, umschwebte mich mild &c.

LAST GREETING,

Words by

BERANGER

Composed for the

PIANO FORTE

by

SCHUBERT.

fast thy soul is fleeting, To seek its star - ry home! Yet toi! seul bien que j'aime! sans moi re-tourne aux cieux! La dare I mourn when Heaven Has bid thy soul be free, A mort est u - ne a - mi - e, Qui rend la li - ber - té; fresher life has gi-ven For all e - ter - ni - ty! Yet Ciel re çois la vi e Et pour l' - ter ni - té!
dare I mourn when Heaven Has bid thy soul be free, A
mort est u - ne a - mi - e, Qui rend la li - ber - té;

fresh - er life has given For all e - ter - ni - ty!
Ciel re-çois la vi-e, Et pour le-ter - ni - té!
A -
A - dieu! go thou be - fore me, To join the se - raph throng! A dieu! tu vas mat - ten - dre: Bientôt je dois par - tir. Mon se - cret sense comes o'er me I tar - ry here not long! A - cœur fi-dé - le ten-dre Te garde un sou - ve - nir. A - dieu! there comes a' morrow, To ev'-ry day of pain! On dieu! jusqu'à l'au-ro-re Du jour en qui j'ai foi. Du earth we part in sor row, To meet in bliss a-gain! A-jour qui doit en-co-re Me re-u nir a toi. Adieu! there comes a morrow, To ev'-ry day of pain! On dieu! jusqu'à l'au-ro-re Du jour en qui j'ai foi. Du earth we part in sorrow, To meet in bliss a-gain!

jour qui doit en-co-re Me ré-u-nir a toi.
